REVEILLE 1948

The Yearbook of Kenyon College

GAMBIER, OHIO - - - - VOLUME 93

GIFT OF GEOFFREY STOKES MAY 2002

"Where rise the spires of Kenyon's halls . . ."

HISTORY

The Connick windows in Peirce Tower record the founding of the College in 1824 by Philander Chase, first Bishop of the Northwest Territory. Bishop Chase was not discouraged by lack of funds and in a fund-raising trip to Europe, as the song tells, "Knocked at every noble's door, and also that of Hannah More." The College, founded as The Theological Seminary of the Protestant Episcopal Church in the Diocese of Ohio was always known popularly as Kenyon College and in 1891 the corporate name of the school was changed to the more popular title.

Kenyon has grown up in the collegiate rather than in the university tradition. Traditionally Kenyon has been limited by its charter to three hundred students and its rural atmosphere has provided the conditions for objectivity in the study of the liberal arts. The College has obtained notable recognition outside of Gambier by the accomplishments of its graduates, by the Kenyon Review founded by John Crowe Ransom, and by the peacetime and wartime services of its superior faculty.

The academic year 1948-49 brought the final resolving from post-war campus confusion. Although the College was crowded by double enrollment a similar increase in the faculty insured the individual instruction of pre-war quality and the close relation between faculty and student. With a new field house under construction and a new library and freshman dormitory planned for the immediate future the College looks forward to a distinguished position consonant with its quality.

MOMENTS . . .

are the little impressions of experience which when fitted together produce a memory. On looking back to Kenyon you will remember situations, parties, idiosyncracies, bull sessions, locusts, games, the details barely noticed now. You will remember life

. . . NOT MONUMENTS.

THIS IS KENYON COLLEGE

. . . . AND THESE ARE KENYON MEN

LIFE AT KENYON —

Gook Coonley gives out with a hula for free . . . A rare moment, a silent one, with the poet and the cardinal . . . The attention of the compulsory assemblage is a little out of focus . . . Virgil entertains a philricephy seminar . . . It's Aboody, the thief of Bagdad, making another purchase from Betty Fink at Betty Browne's book emporium . . . Say, you guys remember what we called this in the Army, don't you?

Sunshine Borden leads the way, in one of Kenyon's more solemn processions . . . A couple of unidentified Peeps piling wood on the Homecoming bonfire . . . Caught in the very act. Miller, get that man's name! . . . Please don't play number six tonight, Tesch . . . While Laudebaugh & Co. work, these favored few wait . . . Home for a long evening on the books.

ADMINISTRATION

"A bunch of the boys were whooping it up . . ."

The faculty of Kenyon College spent the past year in many ways. Books and articles were published; papers were read; discussions were entered into; high positions in educational circles were retained and new laurels won; and, most important of all, new fields were blazed. Outstanding in the last category was the establishment of the Kenyon School of English of which Professor Ransom is a Senior Fellow and Professor Coffin, the Dean.

THE FACULTY IN ACTION —

Hal, Gordon, and Bob try to work out a policy for the party . . . How long will Clifton Fadiman overlook the guy who swallowed the canary? . . . Two Phils enjoy a hen party at the Alumni House . . . Bailey and Titus look a little under the weather, while Berg is exposed to it . . . Same party, plus Timbuckus, the old Roman . . . Fawncy calls for the revival of the monarchy in a summer faculty meeting.

Just a coupl'a Senior Fellows . . . "O, the night that Paddy Murphy died" . . . Pensive is the word for Pappy . . . That old bon vivant, Brother Norris, takes a second look at some French originals . . . Artist Morgan and a Mr. Chambers from Ohio seem in agreement on at least one point . . . My God! . . . Frank and Paul have made a remarkable recovery since last we saw them. For less intimate views, turn page.

Springtime in college always brings a time of regret when Seniors suddenly remember that they will be doing many things in Kenyon for the last time. No effort to revive the state of mind and heart of being a student quite achieves its object, in some particulars the au revoir of Commencement really must be a goodbye.

Professors become accustomed to this springtime occurrence, but never wholly inured to it, and it will be particularly difficult for us to say goodbye to the Class of 1948. The reason is that you have done some unusual things. Many of you did a remarkable job in the war. Most of you who returned to your studies after the war dealt with ideas and the propositions of our life together in an especially interesting and promising way. We have reason to expect impressive things of the Class of 1948 because in its undergraduate days it was as a group more mature than most other classes, and because also many of you show special promise. Sometimes the promise of a man's life does not reveal itself until after college. I think I have seen in some of you this potentiality not yet evident in grades or unusual accomplishment. In the next few years we shall expect to see some surprise yourselves, and to see some fulfill the accomplishments so clearly indicated in your undergraduate success.

You have spoken in various ways by deed and word of your affection for the College. Remember that there is nothing better that you can do for Kenyon than to do superbly well whatever important thing you finally turn to as your job in life.

"Farewell, Old Kenyon, fare thee well."

The graduating class of Kenyon College, the class of '48, is probably one of the most popular groups of young men ever to leave the College. Its members come from many sections of the country and several foreign countries. From Kenyon more than half of them are going to graduate schools. At Kenyon they achieved distinction in scholarship, athletics, and in the social life of the College. The Reveille staff wishes them every success and happiness in the cruel world beyond Gambier.

It really isn't fair to say that Joe is a Pre-Med for he has been enrolled at med school for sometime now. He returned to Kenyon this year to receive B.A. and in the fall will resume his studies at Reserve. His work has kept him away from the campus a great deal this past year but he has managed to do the letter writing for the "grand old fraternity" and keep the correspondents corresponding. Became senile, submitted to the incantations of the Weird Sisters, and joined a fraternity (whisper THAT word).

DAN K. LOVELAND

Psi Upsilon Psychology
Saginaw, Michigan

First stretch at Runyon lasted from July of '43 until April of '44. No accounting for the time spent between then and July of '46. Since his return he's been active in the fraternity and on the palette, having achieved distinction as Secretary of the former and having received $25.00 from dabbling around with the latter. He sat in the bleachers at a football game in the fall of 1946, and has since formed a speaking acquaintance with Eppa Rixey III.

Gambier, Ohio

Entered Kenyon summer 1945. Joined Delta Kappa Epsilon and became Secretary and then Treasurer. Became President of Riding and Polo Club, Secretary of Philomathesian, member of Rifle Club. Became one of the "Unsmiling Four" — a headwaiter — during Junior and Senior years. Claim to unending accolades: Held temper reasonably in check for two years as a headwaiter despite perpetual gripes by the peasants.

THEODORE PRICE

Harcourt English

Boston, Massachusetts

Transferred to Kenyon from Northeastern University in October 1947. Became a member of the International Relations Club, the English Club, and was Publicity Director for the Dramatics Club. Is gathering experimental data for Practical Criticism and plans to do graduate work in Comparative Literature. Winner of the Ogden Prize for 1948. Claim to fame: Can make Professor Timberlake madder, faster and longer than anyone else.

JOHN F. PRITCHARD

Delta Tau Delta English

London, England

"Pritch" comes originally from Yorkshire, England, by gum. He came to Kenyon as a war guest in the fall of '42. After his third London home was "blitzed" he joined the Canadian Army (6-22-43) and worked in intelligence. We then won the war. He is fond of literature and an expert on Shakespeare. His real ambition, however, is to cut parrots' claws in and around Mitching Hill, a suburb of London. He has been business manager for HIKA since the war and an integral part of his club where he takes care of the baby pandas.

Bill was born in Middletown, Ohio, so he'd have a central position to get votes in case he'd ever become a politician. He drives his own car and old ladies and babies who happen in the way feel the wrath of man as do his cars themselves. However all the old ladies in Middletown speak well of Bill. He has sleek black hair, pink cheeks and hasn't yet begun to shave. He is studying the due process of law but has taken a few months off to enjoy Europe.

SAMUEL S. ROCKWOOD

Delta Tau Delta History
Elyria, Ohio

Entered Kenyon after the usual intrigue and promptly united with a club called Delta Tau Delta. It seems that a member of their rushing committee saw him heave an Ace Ball 100 yards and figured that he would be a good risk. Despite his frailty he was admitted to the U. S. Marine Corps, and by some Bufu, he was sent to OCS at Bucknell University. There he met a sweet thing and became engaged to it. Sam's a nice boy. He likes to drink beer out of his waterproof sweat-socks.

AUGUST M. ROSSETTO

Sigma Pi Pre-Med
Passaic, New Jersey

"Augie" was born on Pearl Harbor Day, 1925 and decided at once to become a pre-med at Kenyon College in South Gambier, Ohio. He also decided to be a Sigma Pi and out of gratitude they later decided to make him president of that lively group of very young men. A man of fiery decision, Rossetto has made "Helen" mail out no less than 22 transcripts of his Kenyon record to the world. In the fall semester of 1947-48, Augie made the merit list. In June 1948 he didn't. His life may be unhappy.

Milton was one of the most co-operative Seniors, as far as Reville 1948 was concerned, but his biography was so long and so well written that it could not be cut to fit the space allotted without detracting from its quality. It was therefore decided that this "March On Archon" would receive the Reville Tribute without benefit of editorializing.

ARTHUR H. SEIDEL

Delta Phi Psychology
Long Island, New York

This bright boy arrived at Kenyon College shortly after the big War and later talked his way into that fine outfit called Delta Phi. Soon thereafter he retired to his room and wasn't seen again until he received an Honors Degree in Psychology at the 120th Commencement of Kenyon College and the Purple on White. As one might suppose, however, Artie wasn't all sweetness and light. He liked to sit for hours with his pipe he had purloined from the College Shop and conceive lovely forms wreathed in swirling smoke. His athletic manifestations were limited to blondes.

HOWARD SHRIBER

"Howie," or "Shribe," or "Howsh," is best known at Kenyon College for his hard work within the walls of South Hanna. He is one of the older Peeps and has contributed his services to the frat in many capacities. As Vice-President in 1944 he organized the Sigma Pi Development Program, a five-year plan encompassing every aspect of fraternity life. The plan has slipped somewhat behind schedule, but Howber promises a greater interest next year.

Sherlock Bailey and Dr. McGowan have an unsolved mystery on their hands. It is the case of the mysterious Starr. Little is known of the Starr other than that it appeared in the fall of 1945 and was faintly visible over the West Wing for about two and one-half years before vanishing into the west this summer. It had an A.B. when last seen.

DONALD E. TWINING

Phi Kappa Sigma Spanish
East Cleveland, Ohio

Otherwise known as "Laughing Boy of Phi Kappa Sigma," he spent two years at Kenyon and then entered the U. S. Army where he promptly lost his head. On returning here, now a grown man, he was placed on the throne at North Hanna from which he ruled with dignified and persevering force. Some say that he was quite a party-boy, but that's not true. Wild women and shattering glass were just a pastime for Donnie. Russian was his forte at Kenyon College and now that he has left, Ohio Wesleyan University weeps its gratitude.

ORA W. YOUNG

Delta Kappa Epsilon Political Science
Long Island, New York

This "Grand old man of West Wing" has been around about as long as the president himself. He entered Kenyon in 1940 and remained until 1948 so he could be the last of the Ryebucks. However he did take a few years off to be an Ivory tower officer in the AAF. He also is married and has a child, his barrack home being a refuge for many a good Kenyon man's date in the wee hours during the 1947-49 purge of student government. He is now insulating himself against future depressions with a steady job in the insulating business.

"Our Freshman year's a mem'ry, gone too, our Sophomore . . ."

There is much to be said for the Junior Class, but the more of it that remains unsaid the better it will be for all concerned. It's true that the Class of '49 is filled with All-Americans, writers of note, and politicians by the score, but being the last class that entered before the axe fell in the fall of '46, it retains many of the old school customs that have fallen into misuse of late. SOPHOMORES AND FRESHMEN

Undergraduates

The lower classmen reflect the attitude of an entirely post-war student body. Their ideas will form the policies and guide the tenor of student life on the Hill for years to come. They have a seriousness and reliability usually associated with the oldest men on campus. The accent is on education.

The "T", and the barracks

SOPHOMORES

The sophomores have held their own; their ranks are somewhat thinned, but they kept the cane and their eyes are clear. The class of '50 had the questionable distinction of being the first, large, post-war class. Out of chaos has come a large group of men who have found their stride and who are now ready to assume the responsibilities of upper classmen.

Once again the freshmen are fuzzies. They came in the fall lost and bewildered, and now, by dint of hard work and excellent tutelage, are no longer lost. This year saw a sharp decrease in the veteran to non-veteran ratio — a welcome harbinger of a return to normalcy in colleges. They must, however, develop their own neuroses. Kenyon welcomes them.

FRATERNITIES

"Passing down tradition's ways, fellowship is nigh."

The Tuesday night singing down Middle Path, the beer parties, the singing "around the Hill" at Gene's, the pledge line-ups, an athletic trophy, peep nights, and an end seat at the fraternity table constitute the flavoring that is the essence of fraternity life.

1947 - 1948 was a lively year in North Leonard. Apart from hitting the books, an activity at which they found themselves particularly inept, the Psi U's had many widely-separated interests. They ranged from the care and nurture of small, fur-bearing animals and water fights, to the appreciation of the intricacies of "be-bop" and "scat." The parties were frequent and spirited in every sense of the word, with the two Dance Weekends culminating the year's social efforts. Memorable too was the March Leonard Hall party with the components of beer, women, and music adding up to one of the best weekends of the year. Athletically the occupants of North Leonard were, if not always brilliant, certainly dogged. The loss of Neely, Day, and Loveland through graduation will be felt, but the prospects for the 1948 - 1949 year look good from every angle.

The Delts had a glorious year, athletically speaking, winning nearly all the intramural titles and producing the greatest number of lettermen for the varsity of any of the divisions on the Hill. Their already bulging trophy cases picked up awards for football, swimming, basketball, volleyball, and tennis, while such men as Eppa Rixey, Pete Weaver, Dave Bell, Bill Schneebeck, Jack Bartlett, Dave Endsley, and Brayton Lincoln, to name a few, garnered honors in inter-collegiate competition. Socially, the muscle-men were second to none. Parties of every description kept them busy from October to June. The Delta Chateau represented Delt ingenuity at its best. In the scholarship column, well . . . there were times when the lamp of knowledge could be discerned. The future of the chapter looks bright, but it will be difficult to equal the achievements of the past year much less improve upon them.

Through the pledging of nine men last October, the Betas brought their membership up to forty-six, the same number as the previous year. The fraternity moved high in all circles of college life. In scholarship the division was able to produce two of the six new members of Phi Beta Kappa, Dick Karkow and Jack Hart. Throughout the year Old Wooglin's boys enjoyed high prestige in the various types of athletics. Eschenbrenner, Mooney, and Zeigler were sparkplugs of the football squad; Mooney and Barr were starters on the Lord's basketball varsity; and Jensen, Wendler, Mitchell, and Hull scored in other sports. Social functions, always spectacular in the division, kept the Betas well-rounded. Williams, Masch, and many others swelled the ranks of the various college publications, while Whitaker did the "lion's share" in returning the coveted Singing Cup (at least half of it) to South Leonard.

Things could have been better in the East Wing this past year, but things are not everything and some few individuals made the prospects for the coming year seem very bright indeed. Dick Fornoff turned in some great performances on the gridiron and Mallory gives promise of future achievements. Trinkner represented the division on the basketball court, and on the fairways, having been the defending Champion of the Ohio Conference. Reading and writing were not the Alpha Delts' strong points in scholarship. There was an intangible something that prevented them from winning the Scholarship Cup. Generally speaking, it was everybody else. But if they didn't have "Brains" in the outfit, they did have fellows who knew how to have a good time. Seniors like Morrill and Morrison will be sorely missed next year but the division will survive.

The Middle Kenyon Association this past year was the largest it has been in its illustrious history. The increase in size was accompanied by a general increase in the interests of the Mu Kaps in everything that had to do with the life in the College. From the deep recesses of WKCG, where the Marples spent all their spare time developing the college station, through athletics, to the ancient literary societies the members of the division made leading contributions to Kenyon's extra-curricular life. But scholarship did not suffer as a result. The loss of the Scholarship Trophy merely made the Mu Kaps work harder. On the organizational side the association has a new constitution which promises to bind the members more closely to the three halls of Middle Kenyon. The division is particularly proud of Nate Marple and Mel Baker who were elected to Phi Beta Kappa this spring.

The Lambda Dekes were one of the strong forces in the re-establishment of student government at Kenyon this past year by virtue of having three men on the Interim Committee and the president of the Pan-Hellenic Council, two of the groups on the Hill most influential in the great project. The continuance of Deke strength in campus politics has been affirmed by the recent all-campus elections in which Bill Cheney was elected to be president of the Student Government next year. Outside the world of politics the West Wingers were busy in all phases of extra-curricular activities, particularly partying. The social life in the Wing was, as always, the fastest on the Hill. The Deke revival has been phenomenal when one considers that there was only one Deke here a couple of years back. All in all, Lambda enjoyed its best year since the end of the war.

LAMBDA of Sigma Pi enjoyed one of its best years in every respect since coming to Kenyon back in '17. Bobby walked off with scholastic honors in Poly Sci to lead the academic procession. In athletics Bill Sesler and Jack Horner represented the chapter on the gridiron in the fall. Freshman Bud Jones turned in the type of performances in Freshman swimming that should assure a berth on the varsity squad next winter. And among those who didn't let Spring Fever take them to Painesville every weekend were Jack Sanford, Art Gray, and Jack Tomassene on the track squad; Bob Stix and Jack Horner, baseball, and Dick Shirk, photography. So much for athletics. On the partying plane, Lambda again led the Hill, tossing many of the best shrimp cocktail parties at Kenyon all year. All in all Lambda enjoyed its best year since the end of the war.

"Water fighting is the sport of frustrated swimmers," said Psycho Sap, and no division has more died-in-the-wool water fighters than that Hellespont of the Athens of Knox County, Middle Hanna Hall. But in addition to the Freudians there are a few of the genuine articles around. Skip Clark, Harry Lang, Jack Carter, and Gene Keller led the college team to its first conference title in several years. Outside Shaffer Pool, the D.P.'s have shone brightly in campus government, campus publications, campus intramurals, and off-campus parties. The Class of '48 had a large number of Middle Hannamen, all of whom were outstanding in some phase of campus life. Benny, Brooks, Hamister, Mason, Marshall, Metter, Seidel et al would be a difficult bunch of fellows to match in any outfit.

"The grand old fraternity" was on top of the heap again with a stellar pledge class the likes of which Theta hasn't seen since the open season back in 1946-1947. Everything went the way of North Hanna. Laurels were heaped upon her hallowed halls. In music, she knew no peer. In scholarship, well . . . a few. But in athletics. . . . As Dave Bowman used to say, "It'll be a better frat club if it's heaped properly." And Phi Kappa Sigma was heaped right proper. A few of the old guard left during the year; fewer graduated, but those who did did Theta proud. Bradley, Twining, and Joe Koelliker will be missed but there are a few left to carry on their tradition. Not to be outdone by the Weaverites, the Phi Kaps introduced a number of new sports to Marriott Park, including aceball, water-fighting, and fly-back. Roy Styers has volunteered his services to the Confederate underground division to promote the new activities. With a hearty "Hosanna to North Hanna" the old club marches forward with the rallying cry, "Heapin' will make it so, so keep on heapin' and dare to go . . . Phi Kap!"

The academic school year 1946-1947 brought to Kenyon a record enrollment of some 550 students. Compared to the previous average of 275-300 in former times, the desirability of an additional fraternity on the Hill was acutely felt by a considerable proportion of the student-body, as well as by the Administration. Thus was created the ARCHON SOCIETY on March 21, 1947,—a local fraternity, pledged to unite itself "in a fraternal bond of higher scholastic standing, better organization and loyalty to Kenyon College," as the Preamble to its Constitution states, and then eloquently continues. . . . "any discrimination as to membership qualifications will be based on character and scholastic standing only." Race, creed, and religion do not enter into consideration of prospective members.

The road to recognition and secure establishment as a full-fledged "division" at Kenyon was a trying one indeed in sundry respects. That the group of twelve charter members did not lose heart along that rocky path is a fine tribute to their determination and their undaunted will to achieve their goal. It was attained with a seat on the Pan-Hellenic Council and subsequent accordance of equal member status in the fall of 1947.

Scholastically, the "Archons" have led the College from the very start, and are presently in possession of the Scholarship Cup, gained with the fine fraternity average of 2.91. One of the Archon Founding Fathers, Hank Abraham (Kenyon '48), was elected to Phi Beta Kappa last February. Athletically, too, the Archon Society has shown ambition: Teams entered the intramural swimming and volleyball contests, and two members played on the first-string Varsity Soccer Team, one as the team's captain.

Encouraged by a sympathetic Administration, the cooperation of other fraternities, the tireless and enthusiastic work of its own members, guided by its Patron-Member, Librarian Wy Parker, and its adviser, Professor R. G. Salomon, the Archon Society has grown steadily, and has firmly established itself as the Ninth Fraternity at Kenyon College. Now in its second year, it is a closely-knit, well-organized unit, proud of its record, happy in its life at Kenyon, confidently looking to a future of fraternal progress.

ATHLETICS

The past year has not been an outstanding one in the annals of Kenyon athletics from the point of view of team competition, but the performances of several individuals made it an exciting one. The Swimming Team won the Conference title and the Lacrosse Team won the mythical Mid-West title to garner the only important team laurels. The addition of Lloyd Budge to the coaching staff and the recent acquisition of a full-time Lacrosse coach make the prospects for the coming year bright indeed.

All lettermen are eligible for membership provided they maintain a high academic average and receive the unanimous approval of the active members of the Klan. Under the new constitution the Klan will continue to be the leading "booster" organization for college activities. Sam Montague was the President of the group during the past year.

Clicking with surprising precision against Bluffton College and exhibiting offensive power that piled up an impressive 393 yards, the Kenyon Lords opened the 1947 football season in auspicious fashion. The center of the Kenyon defense, led by vicious Dick Fornoff, gave up only 54 yards as six Lords scored a touchdown apiece.

The following week the University of the South, paced by Little All-American Chuck Flowers, moved over and through a disheartened Kenyon eleven, 40—0. Behind one touchdown, but still very much in the game, the Lords wilted rapidly under the tropic heat and the Sewanee onslaught after Jack Mooney was forced to the sidelines with a cracked vertebra.

Unable to shift a potentially good offense into high gear Dave Henderson's men travelled to southern Ohio and northern Indiana on successive Saturdays and dropped decisions to Marietta (20-6) and Wabash (33-0).

Back in Gambier for Homecoming a reorganized squad defeated the Eagles of Ashland College, 19—0. Sophomores Walt Parsel and Paul Buck, who were shifted from end and tackle respectively, turned in outstanding performances in the halfback slots. It is saddening to note that Buck's ability, so recently noted, was lost to the squad for the remainder of the season as the result of a broken leg.

Travelling to Geneva, New York, on the final road trip of the season, the Purple Pack was dropped by Hobart, 12—0. Offensive power was absent as both teams churned what had been a lake of three inches depth into an adhesive field of mud.

In a game in which the lead changed four times, Kenyon copped its third and final victory of the season from stubborn Hiram College, 20—14. Marshall, Parsel, Eschenbrenner, and Haskell rolled up 371 yards the "hard way" and the Lord defense looked better than at any time in the year. This well-won victory brought to a close Kenyon's best season since '43. With most of the squad returning and a promising freshman group to choose from, next year should witness another step up the ladder for the Lords in the multi-teamed Ohio Conference.

When Kenyon's 1947-48 basketball squad reported for its initial practice session, Coach H. F. "Pat" Pasini held hopes for a highly successful campaign. The Kenyon supporters had cause for their optimism. Pasini had a returning letterman at every position. Eppa Rixey, who had averaged over 19 points a game in '46-47, was back to handle the pivot position and rebounding chore. High-scoring forward Dave Bell and veteran guards Chuck Barr, Bill Schneebeck, and Perry Trinkner were on hand to strengthen the Lord aggregation. Forward Jack Mooney, spark-plug of the '46-47 outfit that won nine of sixteen contests, was recovering from injuries received in football, but was expected to break into the line-up after Christmas vacation. In the meantime Ranney Bucey and John Schlemmer served as valuable replacements for "the Moon."

Mooney joined the squad immediately after the Christmas holidays but substitute guard Bud Jones, because of scholastic deficiencies, and Barr, because of ill-health, were forced to leave the squad. Not long afterwards, Mooney himself became scholastically ineligible, depriving the Lords of their key

"setup" man. Pasini hauled Tom Davis out of the reserve ranks and Hal Mallory and Dave Ritter from the intramural program to meet the player shortage, but the move reaped few results. Kenyon lost six of the last eight games, winning only from hapless Ashland twice. The final record for the season was ten victories against twelve defeats.

The single bright spot of the season was the phenomenal playing of Rixey. Big Ep scored 550 points in 22 games for a new Kenyon record. His 25 points per game average ranked second in the nation.

The nation's coaches and sports writers buried Rixey with post-season laurels. The Terrace Park Terror was named to the All Ohio, All Ohio Conference, and All Midwest (small college) aggregations. Perhaps Rixey's greatest honor was being selected as fourth team center on the All Midwest (all colleges) crew. Eppa was ranked with such outstanding pivot men as All American Ed MacCaulley of St. Louis, Alex Groza of Kentucky, and Bob Brannum of Michigan State.

Fenn Invitational Relays — Second
Ohio Conference Meet — First

Captain Don Clarke, Conference Champion in the Breaststroke, undefeated in two years of college competition.

. . . . W8—L0

As the starter raised his gun for the last event of the 1948 Ohio Conference Swimming Meet Kenyon trailed Oberlin, defending champs, by two points. The event was under way and Kenyon led, but on the second turn of the anchor leg, Harry Lang, Kenyon's ace free-styler, missed the wall. Lang, knowing that it meant disqualification, turned back and made his touch. Then with the odds all against him he put on a burst of speed which brought him home first and returned the Conference trophy to Kenyon for the first time in many years.

Kenyon's undefeated 1948 team was a great team because it had the fight and the will to win. More important perhaps was the extra work each of the men was willing to put into his specialty in order to insure a victory. Men who seldom had a chance to compete never missed practice. Men whose early times were slow were able to cut them considerably. Most important of all was the consistent point getting of Lang, Clark, Bartlett, Carter, Wendler, St. John, Workum, Mitchell, and Labalme, and the patient coaching of Bob Parmelee.

When the men on a team work as hard and fight as hard as the Kenyon swimmers it's difficult to single out individuals for mention. But it's impossible to write about Kenyon's natators without especial mention for Harry Lang, who collected more points than any other member of the team, and Skip Clark, the team's surest point getter. Skip is undefeated in two years of college competition and has been elected captain of next year's defending champions.

Third row — Goldsborough, Williams, Hirsche, Brooks, Young, Gregory, McFarland.

One of the more pleasant athletic surprises of the school year 1947 and 1948 was the emergence of soccer as a varsity sport at Kenyon. In the winter of 1946 already a few undaunted soccer enthusiasts of whom Swen Swensson, Knute Christensen, and Hank Abraham were the core, attempted to establish soccer at Kenyon, but their efforts proved premature. One year later, however, a genuine interest in soccer was conceived, and so many boys came out for the sport that sufficient personnel for three teams was on hand to welcome the coach, Dr. Andrew E. Hanfman.

Dr. Hanfman was eminently qualified to coach soccer. He has had a wealth of playing experience on some of Europe's leading teams, and is intimately acquainted with each and every finesse of the game.

The Kenyon booters, one of but two college soccer teams in Ohio, played four games during their first season. The initial game took place at Oberlin against Oberlin's experienced team on October 25. Mustering a superb team and fighting spirit that actually far exceeded playing ability, the Lords played a splendid game, and only bowed 1:2 by virtue of a penalty kick imposed upon their brilliantly battling "Eleven" 90 seconds prior to the end of the game. In the second game against University School at Cleveland four days later, played in a constant rain, Kenyon was far superior and easily won 4:0. The third game, on November 1 against Western Reserve Academy at Hudson, ended in a 2:2 tie — a game that should have been won by the Lords, had it not been for overconfidence on their part. The final game, and at the same time the only home game, was a return engagement against Oberlin, which Kenyon dropped 1:3. Revenge is promised for next year.

. . . . BASEBALL

First row — Coach Pasini, Mallory, Kasai, Bowers.
Second row — Whitney, Horner, Stix, Baker.
Third row — Schlemmer, Manager Bickle, Bell, Fornoff.
Fourth row — Lindsey, Mooney.

There was a noticeable improvement in the brand of baseball played by the Lords this spring. They won a game. In fact, they won three games, one of which was a honey of a shutout pitched by Sophomore right-hander Dave Bell. Besides the higher quality of pitching the team enjoyed some hitting for the first time in two seasons. Kasai, Mallory, and Fornoff wielded the Louisville Sluggers in a manner that did the Purple proud. On the defensive side Andy Bowers, Jene Lindsey, and li'l Johnny Schlemmer turned in outstanding performances. With the entire squad returning next year Ole Pat may get his winning baseball team after all.

Till recently, to a uniquely stubborn group of midwesterners, the word Lacrosse symbolized a phase in the wild life of our vanishing American Indians. This year these same stubborn midwesterners found their suspicions well-grounded as they watched three Ohio college teams bat each other's brains out for a mythical state title. After a season which sent our noble Lords against opposition in the untamed East, as well as in the Buckeye State, our record stood at three victories and four defeats. Handicapped without a full-time coach and with a great number of totally inexperienced players, the team so proved itself that a full-time coach has been signed for the coming year, and with the return of all but two of the regulars the results next year should show vast improvement. Roy Styers deserves special mention for the many favors he did the team. Final laurels go to Pete Weaver. After a brilliant season Pete was selected for the All-South Lacrosse Team.

Baldwin-Wallace had Harrison Dillard, Ohio Wesleyan had Quentin Brelsford, and Kenyon had it, but it wasn't as bad as it might have been if we had competed against either B.-W or O.W.U. The Kenyon College track team, under the tutelage of Bob Parmelee, managed to take two meets this year to double their performance of last year. One might even say we won more than two when one considers that our first victory was in a triangular meet. If some cute boy should point out that one of the teams in the triangular meet was Ashland College I would reply, "Thank goodness for Ashland!" Two of the remaining meets were close and three weren't. Next year we may meet Ashland seven times, if arrangements can be made.

BEXLEY HALL

An Angel Looks At Bexley Hall

The Divinity School of Kenyon College has continued in the renaissance which began so auspiciously after its return from wartime exile in Virginia. The student body has grown in numbers, the Tudor beauty of Bexley Hall has been enhanced by the attractive married-students' barracks, and the "Bishop's Walk" has become "Perambulator Path." These are the marks of progress which provide continuous witness to Bexley's advancing hosts.

Dear Diary,

The bells of Saint Mary's* were hardly audible at 0430 today but, with some expected assistance from little Cholera, they managed to awaken me in time for chapel at 0500. After the regular three hour devotional I returned to my little brown home, fixed breakfast, changed Cholera, and waked Terpsichore. The period of relaxation over for the day, I hurried to Colburn Hall and reviewed the 500 pages of reading I had for Clem's philosophy class at 0900, constantly reminding myself that I would need a "B" average in order to earn my "B." D. in the prescribed three years. At 1000 I had a conference with the "Roach." It left me inspired. At home again Terpsichore said that the Dean could dig around in the ruins of Babylon if he wanted to, but that I'd better start with the vegetable garden out back. I took my problem of church or family, family or church, to "Dickey" Salomon. He recommended that I make better use of the library. The afternoon chapel service was mine today. I delivered the sermon without notes, and received the usual compliments. My wife said I ought to practice what I preach. After figuring out the budget for next month and breaking up the Cholera-Denny Blodgett fight, I attended the weekly meeting of the Bexley Society. Dr. Stalker spoke on "Rural, Schmural, Hab'i'gesund." A lively discussion ensued, in which the Church was triumphant. Have to rush off for the bells of Saint Mary's are tolling Compline above the varied cries of Cholera.

Amen.

ACTIVITIES

It takes a heap of extra-curricular activities to make Kenyon a college.

INTERIM COMMITTEE

Standing — George, the waiter, taking orders for another round.

The return of student self-government to Kenyon College this spring was largely the work of the Interim Committee. Its members did an admirable job in the re-organization of the whole shebang. Now, if everything works out all right, there'll be no more shebang.

. . . . STUDENT COUNCIL

First row — Organ, Cheney, Porter, Williams.
Second row — Masch, Thomas, Carr, Westland, Behm.
Third row — Vansickle, Tiefixer, Lang, Frazier.
Fourth row — Rothschild, Davis.

The chief component of the new Student Government is the Student Council. Its members include many of the outstanding students in the College. All are capable but their job will be a difficult one. It is the earnest hope of the Reveille staff that this group, so well chosen, will succeed where others have been less fortunate. Only time will tell.

EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE

Standing — Fink (of the standing committee)

The men and boys picture above are responsible for the allocation of the fabulous Student Assembly Fee, which does not provide for student assemblies, which are paid for out of other funds of unknown or untold origin, but which does pay for a variety of things which varies from time to time depending on the whims and interests of the committeemen and other interested people, mainly lobbyists, writers and Pat Pasini. For further information, consult "smiling Ed" Camp (q.v.) in the advertising section of your local Reveille.

. . . . PAN-HELLENIC COUNCIL

Right to left for a change — McKechnie, Phi Kappa Sigma; Hull, Beta Theta Pi; Shirk, Sigma Pi; Park
Psi Upsilon; Chairman Doremus, Delta Kappa Epsilon; Frenaye, Archon Society; Rich, Alpha Delta Phi; Metter, Delta Phi; Hering, Delta Tau Delta.

Due to the secret nature of college fraternities it was impossible to learn the exact function of the Pan-Hellenic Council. It is believed that it acts as a co-ordinating body between the various agencies which are working in the interests of the current classic revival.

THE COLLEGIAN

*In the usual order — Masch, Janis, Lindsey, Abraham, Hart, Emerson, Moorman, Collinge.
Among those missing — Williams, Borden, Montague, Grover, Carter and a whole host of Fourth Estaters.*

The Collegian broke all existing records during the past semester by publishing more issues than any other Collegian in Kenyon history. The paper became a weekly and changed its format to that of a tabloid. New features were added and with strong editorials and controversial articles the newspaper was discussed wherever and whenever Kenyon men gathered during the year. Unfortunately, the most widely read column in the Collegian, "Hilltopics," made its last scheduled appearance in 1948 with the graduation of "Accolades" Lindsey. From now on things are likely to remain the same without anyone noticing. Old Bob Collinge was succeeded by Young Howard Janis at the reins somewhere about the middle of the stream.

. . . . ADVOCATE

*In the middle — Roper.
Surrounding Roper (clockwise from 6 o'clock) — Balzerit, Wysong, Fink, Bell, Perry, Sperry, McElroy, Dolan.*

The Advocate, the brain-child of two Psi U's and a number of other subversive elements in the College and which purports to be an open forum for student opinion, found its way to the printers on the outskirts of Mt. Vernon sometime in the middle of 1947. A carefully worked out plan for advertising and subscription succeeded in bringing the big "A" under investigation by the Executive Committee (q.v.). Powerful interests either within or without the College managed to continue its publication throughout the year and with the announced retirement of the founding editor a surprising student interest in the founding of another humor mag was revealed.

HIKA

En masse — Macauley, Young, Kirby, Cheney, Weaver, Williams, Parks, Pritchard, Brooks, Enders.

Despite the accusations of "esoteric" and "unintelligible" that have been hurled at it, Hika has in the past ten-odd years of its existence built up a reputation as one of the finest undergraduate literary magazines in the country. Its writers and editors have graduated into leading publishing houses, Pulitzer prizes, O'Henry short story awards, and national recognition. During the year 1947-48 Hika has done much to maintain this reputation of excellence, climaxing its career with a superlative issue about life as it is.

. . . . IN LIMBO

"At the Same Time, At the Same Time"

Only row — (Potential) — Taylor, Lowell, Jarrell, McDowell, Macauley, Southard, Nichols, and Elder.

It is unlikely that the departure of Napoleon to St. Helena received as much discussion and attention as had the involuntary cessation of activities by the modest Hika. Just what the final outcome of the action will be remains to be seen, but it is generally believed that the coming of the locusts was no mere coincidence and that there are nine more happenings to go. In fact we've just heard that the faucet in Cromwell House has been giving out red water.

DRAMATICS

Photoquiz — If, in the above picture, deuces and one-eyed jacks are wild, who is at sixes and at sevens?

The new Dramatic Society, or Club, is a development of the remnants of the old Dramatic Club, or Society. The re-organizational meeting sometime during the year firmly established the uncertainty of the members over the beneficiality of a constitution, and dues, yet. That art should be organized is the proposition for debate in the club's meeting next year. Paul L. Newman or Bob Wysong was elected president and either Don Tescher or Jim Michael or both will act as advisers. There are strong ties between the Dramatic Organization and the stage in Shaffer Hall. Outstanding members of the club are sometimes elected to membership in the Hill Players, when and if elections are held by that august body. (Ed. — W. R. Ashford is the entire membership of the Hill Players. Is his an "august body"?)

. . . . PLAYS

Five plays were presented by the Black Art Theater during the season just passed. The fare, which ran the gamut of theatrical history from ancient Greece to World War II, was carefully chosen, well prepared, and easily digestible. The appetizer was Front Page, a fast if overworked vehicle. It was followed by The Home of the Brave, which offered another view of a current social problem. The entree consisted of two choice morsels, Heartbreak House by Shaw, and Anhouil's Antigone. For dessert, there was The Taming of the Shrew. Then we all retired to the library for a demi-tasse and small cakes, in the form of examinitos. Bicarb this summer.

PHILOMATHESIAN

Seated — Barton, Saville, Seidel, Janis, Welty, Hwozdewich.
Seated in the alcove — Perrin, Holthaus, Carter, Collinge.
Standing — McKechnie, Uyeki, Whitaker, Wysong, Dean Dubois, H. L. Warner, Bradley, Hoedt, Perry, Mason, Lindsey.
Speaker — Nupi McIvycoved, W.R.A., Ph.D.

The one hundred and twentieth year of the Philomathesian Society found its members more ready than ever to take a back seat in the academic life of the College. A complete re-organization failed to come off and several interesting discussions were not held but the increased numbers gave promise of even greater things to come. The midyear graduation of Bob Golden left Philo presidentless; however, in next year's re-organization something may be done about this noticeable lack. Philomathesian Hall played host to the de-halled members of the K. W. Brooks Honor Society on one or more occasions as the schedule of events would permit.

. . . . NU PI KAPPA

First row — Rentschler, Wright, Hart, Wendel, Slawson, Dr. Ashford.
Second row — Baker, Lang, Abraham, Hall, Starr, Behm, Hoyt.
Third row — Pritchard, Robert Penn Warren, Waters, Crawford, Whiteman, Borden, Bates.
Fourth row — Metter, Cheney, Benny, Moorman.
Missing — J. O. Birdsall, Neely, Brooks, and many more.

The Nu Pi Kappa Society, a new literary group on the Hill, relatively speaking, lost its efficient president, Jim Birdsall, before the first meeting of the school year. Ken Brooks moved up to the prexy's seat and has taken charge of all meetings since November. Dr. Ashford, M. Sciana, and Henry Abraham were among the many who read papers to the group this year. Nu Pi supported the backers of a movement who were instrumental in forming the core of an idea for the possible re-establishment of a Senior Honorary Society at Kenyon. The literary nature of the Rebels will diminish somewhat when its stellar Senior members graduate without benefit of honor, but Nu Pi claims to have an ace up its sleeve. Next year it will throw its weight behind a number of men who believe they can find a definition for that most elusive of college terms, school spirit. If a definition is found, well, just watch out, Philo!

A. W. O. L. — Brooks, Himmelsbach, and Ransom.

To: All hands

From: The bridge

Subject: Operation English Club

"Operation English Club" was first conceived in the Officers' Mess of the U. S. S. Hathaway in the fall of 1947 by Captain C. M. Coffin somewhere between the shrimp salad and the lobster a la Newberg. The plans as drawn up after a demitasse in the captain's quarters had a twofold purpose. The immediate one was the organization of the Kenyon flotilla into an effective working unit and the far-reaching one was the development of each of the components into powerful fighting factor. Technicians and specialists were assigned to barnacle scraping, walking the plank, and drawing up tables of organization. The result: Anchors Aweigh and Bon Voyage!

. . . . PRE-MED CLUB

Brightening the corner — Gifford, Wysong, Nesbet, Latta, Basinger, St. John, Reich, Tommassene. Missing — Those without slickers and galoshes.

The Pre-Med Club passed the 1947-1948 season pleasantly enough leaving most of its worrying to Bob Wysong and its work to Hay Siempre Manana, the Spanish exchange student. Dr. Thornton continued as the club's adviser. His advice was usually heeded.

I. R. C. . . .

Not in picture — The grand old men of I. R. C., Sandy and Mr. Mason.

The Kenyon Chapter of the International Relations Club this year celebrated its Golden Anniversary in fine style. Many vigorous discussions of contemporary problems were held and the club continued to be represented in sectional and regional conferences. The graduation of Messrs. Mason, Lindsey, Abraham, and Golden will leave the club a little less vital, but Father Founder believes the local cell will survive in any event. John Perry, the president for the past year, is to be commended for his work in organizing the programs.

. . . . W K C G

Seated — Orebaugh, Runge, Whitney.
Standing around — N. Marple, Shantz, Penfound, Kastner, Johnson, Borden, Dellheim, Eliasoph, Keener, Wysong, Morrill, Briscoe.
Seated alone in back — Wolf.
Missing — Lindsey, McKinley, D. Marple, Sladky, Edgerton.

The past year has been a banner one for old WKCG. The blue network managed to turn out some red-hot entertainment, not a little of which was highly spontaneous and unrehearsed. Ray Bentman's "Stump the Prof" was missed by all those who had enjoyed it in the spring of '47, and no top-notch substitute was found to fill the gap. Aside from the void in quiz shows the industrious radio men succeeded in offering a continual output of good music of all brows and in keeping the machinery in good working order. The excellent work of the Marple twins on the technical side and Scott Morrill on the organizational side has given the Voice of Gambier a sound basis from which it can go on to surpass its fine record of the past. No little credit should go to Professor Black for the time and effort he has put into the development of WKCG. The College looks for great things from the Speech Building.

PHI BETA KAPPA

Only row — Marple, Hart Abraham, Karkow

The Phi Beta Kappa Society, which was founded at William and Mary College in 1776, is the oldest Greek letter fraternity in the country. Its chapter at Kenyon College, Beta of Ohio, was chartered in 1858. The organization encourages and recognizes excellence in scholarship. To become eligible for membership at Kenyon a junior must maintain an average of 3.6 and a senior an average of 3.5 for all his college work. Six men were elected to the chapter at Kenyon College this year. The four men shown above were graduated from the College this June. Nate Marple made magna cum laude; Jack Hart, summa cum laude, High Honors in History; Hank Abraham, summa cum laude, Highest Honors in Political Science; and Dick Karkow, magna cum laude, Honors in Economics. The other two men elected, Mel Baker and Dan McCaustland, will graduate in 1949.

. . . . KAPPA BETA PHI

First row — McIntosh, Remien, Peterson, Andrews, Rentschler, Seone, Moses, Miller (lying).
Second row — Dewar, Harbison, Rathslag, Tresise, Dana, Stump, Kuhn, Newell, Grover, Bell, McElroy, Arnold, Strasser, Armstrong, Jewitt, Sperry, May, McCreery.

The guiding philosophy of the Kappa Beta Phi Society is the notion that he who avoids perfection of the physique cannot be said to succumb to the temptations and degradations of the flesh. If you would preserve one's happiness and one's integrity, then let him seek not the high, but rather the middle existence. The good life is attained through congeniality and laughter, not through the perfection of the critical and intellectual faculties. To this end, the Kappa Beta Phi's have dedicated their college days, to peaceful endeavors and merry good fellowship.

CHAPEL CHOIR

First row — Baker, Hill, Birdsall, Nicholson, Smith, Rinehart.
Second row — Wendel, Burwell, Saville, Waters, Bates, Power, Hwozdewich.
Third row — Hammond, Keyes, Behm, McKechnie, Fink, Whiteman, Bunnell, Bradley.
Out in front — Dr. Schwartz, directing.

Emerging from almost four years of haphazard organization and struggling existence, the Choir has at last come into its own. Under the leadership and precise direction of Dr. Paul Schwartz, the Choir was well established on a firm footing, and has since greatly enhanced the value of the Sunday Services in the College Chapel for all. And although nearly the whole emphasis this year was put on these regular Services, there was found time enough for an Evening Service of sacred music at Granville, Ohio, as well as some radio work, both with the College and commercial stations.

In all, this has been a satisfying year for the Choir, and while we deeply regret losing our faithful but graduating organist, Howard Bradley, yet we feel assured that the group will somehow be even better next year.

. . . . KENYON SINGERS

The Singers, composed of those who like to harmonize everything from hit tunes to oratorios, gave a good account of their versatility this year at two concerts in Gambier and two "away," at Columbus and at Oxford, Ohio. This year was mainly used in establishing the organization separately from the College Choir. More of the "glory" should come next year, but it will be based on the experience and practice gained this year.

Professor Clem Welsh, who has almost singlehandedly kept the Singers in existence for the last few years, will hand over the baton to Dr. Paul Schwartz at the close of the season. All had a good time singing together this year; we look forward with enthusiasm to bigger things next year.

MUSIC COMMITTEE

Around the table — Burwell, Dr. Saloman, Abraham, Hill, Waters, Kastner, Dr. Schwartz.

The work of the music committee during the past year was probably the most fruitful of any of the college organizations. The regular Friday night record concerts were a constant source of delight for all who attended them. A most welcome addition to the club's agenda was the concert series which attracted music lovers from throughout the county in addition to the usual college audience. The efforts of Dr. Paul Schwartz, recently appointed chairman of the Department of Music, should be especially commended. May others profit by the fine example of the Music Committee!

. . . . EATING COMMITTEE

Only row — Cognasso, Power, Dr. Ashford, Cummings, Middleton (back to camera), Miller.
Missing — Gorciu, Vogely.

The Eating Committee was formed at the request of the student body in 1902 to provide for the regulation of the Cuisine au Commons. It has served its purpose well during its career and has furnished the student body with a distinctive fare. During the past year the committee has had a varied and experienced group of gourmets in its membership. The committee makes use of many tastes and viewpoints — Italian, Hungarian, English, Harvardian, Yalian, Princetonian, and Amherstian. In the above picture, Dr. Ashford, Potentate Emeritus honoris causa, is seen instructing a junior member of the society in the use of the Fork, Salad, M-3, while Mr. Miller, Consultant in Sea Foods, samples a choice bit of parsley buttered boiled pomme de terre a la Kimball.

TAU KAPPA ALPHA

One Missing.

Lowell Thomas and T. K. Alpha put their heads together a number of years ago and have been joined at the temples ever since. But this strange amalgamation has not prevented Mr. Thomas from becoming one of the country's outstanding commentators. It has, however, been a continual source of annoyance for Mrs. Thomas and Mr. Alpha, a bachelor. But it was Mr. Thomas' success that convinced him that despite limitations (or because of them) a man could become proficient in forensics. He then hit upon a plan whereby all men with similar interests and limitations could unite in fellowship. The resulting organization was Tau Kappa Alpha, named naturally for his friend and associate. It is honorary in character, awards a cup annually, and deserves a page in the Reveille if anything does.

The Debating Society of Speech Hall kept abreast of the times in debating two propositions with particular current interest. The first, which was debated in the Ohio Conference meets was — Resolved: That a Federal World Government Be Established; and the second, which was subject for the single debate with the boys from the Oxford Union, was — Resolved: That the Social and Economic Arguments for the Nationalization of Basic Industries Are Overwhelming. The success of the group was relative to the quality of the material presented and the ability of the opposition. Participants in debates are usually drawn from Dr. Black's classes, which is as it should be.

FEATURES

A particularly busy moment almost any night at the Coffee Shop.

Reveille 1948 is happy to inaugurate a new feature here in the back of the book. The new feature, Features, is included with the expressed purpose of lightening an otherwise heavy book. If Features appeals to you and you'd like to see it included in next year's issue of the Reveille, please let the editor know. He may be reached at almost anytime hard at work in the Publications Quadrant, Room 2.

REVEILLE

"As a record of individuals and often on the light side of the college year, it (Reveille) is pleasant to have as well as useful."

"Why the hell don't you get the damned thing (Reveille) out on time?"

Gambier, Ohio
June, 1948

Organization has been the key word in the production of Reveille 1948. From the outset, when the carefully devised screening process for Kenyon College publications revealed that there were only nineteen men on the Hill qualified for staff positions, to the deadline for material, the publications quadrant has been a beehive of activity. Suggestions, contributions, and inquiries flooded our offices every day of the school year. The staff dwindled and was refurbished from time to time but the enthusiasm of its members never diminished in the least. There was some dissension, too, when the question of what to do with former Hika writers who applied for jobs with us came up for discussion. It was resolved by agreement that only those writers who would sign the Reveille Pledge would be hired. Beyond that all has been harmony and efficiency, of which this volume is a witness.
